EDUCATION

Bachelor of Science, Mechanical Engineering, Arizona State University, 2006

EXPERIENCE

Mr. Springer has over 12 years' experience in forensic engineering and failure analysis investigations, with an emphasis on mechanical systems and equipment, including component and material failures. His experience also includes the evaluation of building envelope construction and performance with a focus on water intrusion and storm damage.

Mr. Springer also provides expert consulting and testimony regarding premises safety, incorporating human factors and applying principles of safety engineering. Investigations in these areas rely on his knowledge of building code and ADA requirements, as well as standards of care in a variety of applications.

PROFESSIONAL REGISTRATION

DESIGN EXPERIENCE

Natorium Redesign

Evaluation of existing, underperforming mechanical system and space layout at an indoor swim school. Redesign of space, air distribution system and envelope insulation to meet performance specifications and mitigate damage to building systems.

Redesign/Modifications of a Bucyrus-Erie 60-L Water Well Drilling and Servicing Rig

Alteration of mast raising and lowering system from cable and winch to hydraulic operation and evaluation of existing equipment in varying configurations to determine loading and stresses on components and alterations in system performance.

Car Cooling Device

Analysis of heat transfer rates, cooling capacity, cooling capacity requirements, and the implementation of various methods and devices for rapid heat transfer.

Commissioning of a steam generator for Royden Construction.

Review and evaluation of gas, air, water, and electrical subsystems, including the management of such systems through relay and recording profile controllers. Evaluation of component quality, compatibility and conformance with applicable codes. Application of appropriate personal protective equipment for safe use of machine.

Water Wall Redesign

Analysis of flow patterns, flow rates, and design around existing geometry

Redesign of High Temperature Furnace for the Department of Energy

Determination of critical stress points, and bending tolerances. Thermal analysis of heat exchange rates and thermal expansion. Design of long term, precise loading mechanism. Evaluation of creep characteristics.
